Regan Brown

Hi, I'm Regan. I've been in public practice for 15 years. I like to work alongside clients and their businesses to understand how I can make a difference.

I am busy in the weekends with various activities centring around my 3 children. I hold my private pilots' licence, so enjoy messing around with aeroplanes when I can find the time.

Like many, I love to travel and unwrap that inner explorer in us all. Recent conditions have curtailed this activity so discovering new places in NZ is now a favourite pastime.

I'm an active relaxer so I need to keep busy, learning is a hobby. I've ticked off the foreign language (although there is always room for improvement there) and would love to next acquire the art of welding like a pro.

Like language, I'm not sure that perfection is obtainable in this discipline – let's see.

Sarah-Jane Young

Hi, I'm Sarah-Jane. I am part of the Initiom furniture and am passionate about building long standing relationships with clients from all business backgrounds.

I have had the privilege of doing business life with clients over a 16-year period which has provided a diverse view of business and its various stages.

As a Pirongia local, my husband and I enjoy being part of the wider Te Awamutu community and getting outside as much as possible.

My two boys are at Pirongia School, and we love getting up to our caravan at Orewa Beach as much as possible.

We look forward to working with you
